

PRIVACY STATEMENT

We welcome contact from you - either via our electronic forms or by direct Email – or by post. Only information supplied to us by these means will be stored by us and the only use generally made by us of your personal information will be to enable our reply to your enquiry.

Such personal information as is provided to us will not be supplied to any outside individuals or organisations unless there is a legal requirement for us to supply this information, or with your own express consent.

This privacy statement only covers our own element of our Web site. The owners or operators of any site to which we provide links, are not covered by this statement and we will not be responsible for any information provided by you to them.
